ditno lists with leading Cyber Security marketplace to expand distribution internationally and leverage algorithm based cyber risk identifier platform

- ditno Network Firewall and WAF products listed on WhiteHawk Marketplace
- WhiteHawk enable small to midsize businesses all over the world to understand and mitigate their cyber security challenges
- WhiteHawk listed on the ASX in January 2018 and have a presence in Australia in addition to their teams in the US ditno's vision is to Make Security Simple, enabling organizations all over the world to protect their data regardless of where it is hosted.

ditno has partnered with WhiteHawk, an ASX listed organization whose vision is "Cybersecurity Simplified" and who have developed an algorithm-based process to enable businesses of all sizes to identify their cybersecurity risks and receive product options which match their needs. They also provide an advisor service to enable companies to determine the best solution for their business.

WhiteHawk predominantly focus on serving the needs of small to medium sized businesses who do not necessarily have in-house staff with the necessary cyber skills to identify and mitigate cyber risks. With an increasing risk of cyber-attacks, small to medium sized companies all over the world are struggling to determine what they need to do in order to initially understand their risks and then take action to mitigate and meet their regulatory requirements. The recent introduction of the Notifiable Data Breaches scheme in Australia meant that any organization that is subject to the Privacy act and has an annual turnover of $3m or more must now report any data breaches to the Australian Information Commissioner.

ditno's Network Firewall and WAF products have been designed to simplify the process of setting up and maintaining enterprise grade cyber protection for environments of all sizes. We have customers with just one server right up to those with thousands of servers across multiple environments. Regardless of scale, they all use the same product suite which is continuously evolved to enhance protection and ease of use.

ditno. was formed in 2012 by an international team of security, technical and business specialists. Together they have created the best performing, most agile and bullet-proof security solution in the market. Registered in Sydney, Australia ditno is a privately-owned company.

For more information please contact:
Andy Walker, CEO ditno.
andy@ditno.com / +61 (0)280 114 860